RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river was falling last evening with 6 feet 9 inches water in the canal. We were visited with a heavy rain last night.

For several days we have neglected to notice ags about the river owing to the election and the great excitement attending it. But there was but little worthy of note transpired. However we shall resume our daily notices.

A Launch.-Capt. Maguire's new steamer, for the Texas trade, was launched last evening, from Mr. Nadal's yard in beautiful style. Her machinery is ready and was built by Messrs. Hewitt & Symmes.

For New Orleans .- That nonpariel summer packet the Fanny Bullitt, leaves for New Orleans this evening, from Portland. The Fanny is in size of the second class, but far too large to go through the canal. Her accommodations are of the best order and her table is supplied with all the luxuries of the season. Capt. Dunham, an energetic, careful, and experienced officer is in command; and Mr. Silas Field, a young, courteous, accommodating, and handsome gentlemen presides at the desk.

For Memphis -The packet, the Tishomingo is off for Memphis this evening. Our business men are largely indebted to the T. for adding largely to their trade. Capt. Briscoe, Mr. Levi, and her other officers have established a wide popularity.

Sam Young is the name of a new sternwheeler which arrived from Pittsburg yesterday. Her name (Sam) will ensure her success.

Hams .- We have been hearing for some time past that Messrs. A. N. Macklin & Son, of Frankfort, were unsurpassed in their skill in the preparation of hams. We have received as specimens, and we are now prepared to confirm fuily all that we have heard. We never saw more beautiful hams or tasted more delicious ones in our life.

Mr. T. L. Jefferson, on the corner of First and Market streets, is the sole agent for the sale of these fine hams in this city.

It has been reported that fifty German laborers including all the stone-masons have left the custom-house not to return again, &c. This is not so, as will be seen by the following card of Messrs. Fillion:

Messrs. M. & F. Fillion, contractors for the cut stone-work of the custom-house, certify that on Monday no one interfered with their hands and that they are now peaceably at work on the building.

M. & F. FILLION. on the building. M. & Louisville, Aug. 8, 1855.

The latter paper has the following with regard to the progress of the Mexican revolution:

THE REVOLUTION .- The Revolution still gains strength on our frontier. Gen. Woll has fallen back from Reynoso upon Matamoras, and a considerable number of the rebels are now, at the time of our going to press, c.ose upon his beeis. We have it from good authority that mere several parties are encamped near Mata-moras, one at Guadalupe, three leagues distant, one at the rancho of Agapito Longoria, about eight leagues off, and the third party at some other point close by. These parties are, we learn, commanded by Capistran, Trjerina, and They do not contempiate an attack on the city, as yet, we believe. A rumor, said to be well authenticated, says that Gen. Vidauri, having regulated matters at Monterey, was again marching on Matamoras with a force of twen-ty-eight hundred men.

It is also said that the forces now around the doomed city have orders not to engage the enemy until the arrival of Vidauri's reinforcements. In the mean time Gen. Well and the control of Vidauri's reinforcements. the mean time Gen. Woil, and those subaltern to him, have grown wrathy to desperation. During the absence of Gen. Woll, the command of ring the absence of Gen. Woll, the command of the city is said to have devolved upon the fa-mous Dona Lucinda, his reputed wife, and her first use of authority was to command the inhu-man treatment of one of her own sex, which not even the tears of the ladies of Matamoras could prevent. impossible to say when Matamoras will fait but its fate is inevitable, and then terrible we be the reckoning. We have much to say on this subject, but our limited space will not

The Flag of the 14th learns that there is no fear of the ultimate success of the insurgents, as the people from all quarters are flocking to their standard, en masse, filled with the greatest enthusiasm: Their numbers are said to have already swelled to three thousand of the best men of the frontier. Many of the most weal-thy and influential men in Northern Mexico, in-spired by that love of liberty which actuated our fathers of '76, are said to have abandoned their homes, contributed their means, and have joined the ranks as private soldiers.

Company have settled with J. Lieb and Mr. Easenring, who were injured by the railroad accident between this city and Geddes a few months since. The Company pay these gentlemen $8,000 each. There were several others injured at the same time, but we have not learned what disposition has been made of their claims for damages.—Syracuse Standard. ettled .- We learn that the Central Railroad DREADFUL ACCIDENT—Falling of the Stone Cornice of the New Trust Company Bank Building—Seven Men Killed.—Yesterday afternoon, about half-past two o'clock, the greater part of the heavy stone cornice of the Trust Company's new bank building, on the corner of Main and Third streets, fell, killing seven men who happened to be on the pavement below.

The following are the names of the persons killed: Hudson B. Curtis, superintendent of the building; Robert Cameron, contractor; John

The building; Robert Cameron, contractor; John T. Chambers. Balser Waldon, Michael Donnehenn, James Gilian, and John Teinman.

The bodies were dug out from the ruins as sneedily as possible, and laid on the pavement in front of the bank buildings, awaiting the arrival of the coroner. While the mangled bodies remained there a number of females, who had relatives at work at the building, made way through the crowd, and arriving at the dead bodies, lifted, with an expression of intense agony, the papers that had been hastily thrown over them, from the face of first one and then

On that very spot, covered hastily with newspapers, in the same manner, lay but a short time since the bodies of those who were killed by the giving way of the pavement from the weight of an iron safe."

Coroner Menzies, immediately on his arrival had the dead removed to Chase's building, and from there they were delivered to their friends.

They were so horribly mangled that it is impossible to describe fully their injuries.

Messrs. Cameron, Curtis, and Waldon were sitting on a stone, or piece of timber, on the side-walk, and engaged in conversation, at the time of the accident. The other three happened accidentally to be passing.—Cin. Gaz., Aug. 8.

MANUMISSION OF SLAVES.—Yesterday morning Mr. F. W. Harris, of Mississippi, appeared before Judge Parker, of the common pleas court, on behalf of Nathaniel Hoggatt, of Adams countered ty, Miss., and released from bondage the following slaves: Nelly, a bright mulatto, twenty-one years old; her maie child, William, two old, seven-eighths white; her female child Octavy, four months old, seven-eighths white Mary, a mulatto, seventeen years old; Anthony Mary, a mulatto, seventeen years old; Anthony Hoggatt, aged twenty-four years; Absalom Hoggatt, aged twenty-one years; William Hoggatt, aged twenty-six years; James Hoggatt, aged twenty-two years; Emily Hoggatt, aged sixteen years; ail these slaves are light mulattoes, with fair education, fine-tooking, and intelligent.

The men are all excellent mechanics, and look better fed and better dressed than two-thinds.

look better fed and better dressed than twothirds of the white population of the North.
They were the property of Mr. Witfred Hoggatt, deceased, of Mississippi, who at his death gave them their freedom in his will, but by some informality in the drawirg up of his will, his request could not be carried out, and his son, Mr. Nathaniel Hoggatt, becoming heir to the estate, brought the slaves to this city for the purpose of complying with the dying wishes of his father. It is the intention of Mr. Harris to carry the whole party back to Mississippi, where they all have excelient situations.

Further Particulars of Walker's Battles -- The Further Particulars of Walker's Battles—The Battle of Rivas.—Taking in consideration the handful of Americans (sixty after the natives broke and fled) engaged in this bloody combat, it seems to have been one of the most unequal on record. There could not have been less than 700 of the Nicaraguans, to judge from the accounts, written and verbal, which we have recoints. ceived. Col. Walker reports his loss at five killed and six wounded, besides the two whom Gen. Bosca reports having shot on the road from Rivas to San Juan. Capt. McNabb, who commanded one of the companies, says not less than twelve of the little command were killed. Among these are Frank Anderson, Achilles Kewen, Benj T. Williamson, Thomas Crocker, George Leonard, the two brothers Cole, E. Easerbrook, and Charles Brogan. The names of those wounded we have not learned. The rethose wounded we have not learned. The remainder of the army sailed for Realejo in the schooner San Jose. The great blunder was ever leaving the northern part of the republic without a force sufficient to hold ground against a population of not less than 60,000 persons, who compose the natives of the Department Meridional. Mr. Kewen was second in command. His dashing gallantry and almost insane courage made him a conspicuous mark to the few sharpshooters among the foreign attaches of the enemy.

[From the Alta Colifornia.] Judge Chambers's Affidavit .- In another column will be found the most singular affidavit ever made by a sane man. Of the subject matter of it we have nothing to say, but shall wait for the additional evidence. But that Judge Chambers, recently a banker and a partner of the great house of Page, Bacon, & Co., should confess that for five years he has been such a gump as to buy gold dust for more than it was worth, and allow a rival house to get the better of his to the amount of $400,000, passes belief. If these charges are true, then, indeed, it was time for Page, Bacon, & Co. to fail: for if they would allow themselves to be cheated right straight along for five years, and could not find out how it was done till after they had failed, then they were not worthy of the confidence that was placed in them by this community. This affidavit is, assuming it to be true, the most remarkable confession of stupidity and weakness ever made, and it looks amazingly as though some malice was instigating the proceedings.

Affairs of Adams & Co.—The Supreme Court California has rendered a decision in the of California has rendered a decision in the case of Adams & Co., vacating the assignment, on the ground that banking firms are not entitled to the benefit of the insolvent laws of the State. The Alta California views the decision as a bad thing for the general creditors, deeming the chance bad for their obtaining anything, as the assets will be absorbed by law expenses and judgments already obtained. It gives the foludgments already obtained. It gives the fol-owing list of those which have been confirmed in the fourth district court alone:

John H. Dall, judgment for .... $42,000 66 Merrick J. Reed ...... 75,987 50 Albert E. Field ...... 11,121 25 Joseph C. Palmer ...... 12,350 00 A. A. Selover ...... 37,393 00 Total ..... $168,851 42

Old Pulaski has rung her bell, and we may now look out for the engine! On Monday last, the County Court, Judge Campbell presiding, assisted by nearly a full bench of Associate Justices, unanimously ordered the subscription by the county of $100,000 stock in the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad, for which the bonds of the county will be issued.

MILWAURIE, Aug. 8.

A special court was held yesterday at West Bend for the trial of Debor the murderer of the the Meyer family. A verdict of murder in the first degree was rendered by the inry. While he was being conveyed back to the jail, guarded by the military, the mob made a rush on him. The military gave way and Debor was felled to the ground by a stone. The mob then fell upon him beging and mangling him beging him begi upon him, beating and mangling him horribly. They then tied him with a rope and dragged him through the streets and hung him head downwards to a tree.

THURSDAY EVENING, AUG. 9, 1855.

THE CITIES-THEIR PHILOSOPHY, MORAL AND PHYSICAL. - The accretion of wealth which commerce and manufactures create are to be seen in the growth of cities, the adornments of the surrounding country, and the extension of all the physical aids that Christian civilization require. Of these aids the railway, the telegraph, the college, the factory, the ship, and the steamboat are prominent agencies in the career of wealth-accumulation, and fit representatives of the genius of skillful industry and educated enterprise. But towering above them all as a material agent-a thing of power, strong, efficient, vital power-stands the CITY. Who can look down upon a great city at midday, with its thronged streets, its bustling quays, its busy workshops, and its fire-spouting furnaces, without feeling that he is viewing one of the mightiest instruments that man ever devised for extending his power and accumulating wealth. Even in the calm tranquillity of night, when all creation is hushed to repose, the beholder of a great city, as he contemplates its vast aggregation of edifices from the lowly tenement of the poor man to the spacious palace of the merchant-prince, feels profoundly impressed with the conviction that he is in the presence of dormant energy and slumbering power that only requires to be aroused to put forth efforts of the most resistless activity.

Whether in every age the city has been the type of the times, it is difficult to determine, but such seems to be emphatically the fact in these later days. Pekin, Constantinople, St. Petersburg, Paris, Vienna, London, and New York are severally the representatives of the degrees of progress and civilization that prevail in the respective countries of which they are the chief emporiums of wealth and commerce. The dormant energies of the overgrown cities of China are in keeping with the feebleness, inactivity, and inability to repress domestic insurrection that are now being so strikingly manifested by the nation at large. Constantinople fitly represents the declining condition of Turkey, while London and Paris are types of the national idiosyncracies of the countries of which they are respectively the capitals.

Individuals, cities, and nations all have their limited periods of existence; they each rise, flourish, decay, and finally expire. Memphis, Thebes, and Nineveh, vast cities, once the pride of the nations whose greatness they served to illustrate, have passed away, leaving no trace but ruins. Rome is in rapid progress of decay; London and Paris have probably reached their culminating points; but St. Petersburg and New York are only yet in the full bloom of early youth. Young and full of vigor, drawing their sustenance each from a vast nation, the resources of which are hardly begun to be developed, these two cities will, as their respective countries improve, continue to grow in population, wealth, and power with a rapidity and to an extent of which there is in history no precedent. These great cities will, in their turn, rise, culminate, and decay, and some future Layard may exhume from their ruins specimens of art, that will serve as sad mementos of extinct power and departed splendor. The growth and maturity of great cities are a work of time; they rise slowly to eminence and decline by almost imperceptible degrees. In olden times, cities were not unfrequently destroyed by force, ravaged by fire and sword, and the inhabitants, made captives, were doomed to a life of servitude; but in these mod-proportions, dazzling splendor, incredible same gentleman, I returned and remained until wealth, and wonderful power. The small village which Romulus founded about seven hundred and fifty years before the Christian era, became, even before that era, the mistress of the world. Some nineteen centuries ago, the Britons established a camp upon the bank of the river Thames; that camp has grown to be the commercial emporium of the world and the metropolis of the proudest Empire upon earth. The miserable hamlet founded by some fishermen in the time of Julius Cæsar, on a small island in the Seine, now dictates the laws of fashion to the Christian world, and is the seat of the most enlightened and refined civilization known to man. Two hundred and forty-six years ago Hendrick Hudson, a Dutch navigator, pitched his tent on Manhattan island. On that spot New York now rears her lofty towers and cloud-piercing spires; there stands the commercial mart of the greatest Republic that ever swept along the tide of time; a city, that, though young in years, is strong in all the elements of wealth and power; a city from whence are sent 500 majority. forth multitudes of ships whose sails whiten every sea, and whose flag floats in every port upon the globe. One hundred and fifty-two years ago, Peter the Great founded the town of Petersburg at the mouth of the Neva. This city of royal birth is a fit representative of regal power. With few natural advantages to aid its growth, it has been built up into a city of er of eastern civilization. There resides a ower that all the world, Pagan and Christian, oth respect and fear.

But if great cities are vast depositories of which sailed hence yesterday, goes out with ealth, and agencies of power, they are also quite a company of colonists in the same enter-But if great cities are vast depositories of prise. In the mean time Col, Walker, on the Pacific side, having been betrayed by the revolutionary party, had joined the government forces, and he may probably, by this diversion, put the latter fairly upon their legs again, and himself in a good position for the most useful services to Col. Kinney in his project of Yankee colonization. Will the Nicaragua Accessory Transit Company give Kinney, Walker, and Fabens a chance? New country—full of raw materials—fine field for American enterprise. Why should it longer run to waste?—N. Y. Herald. ost active and efficient laboratories of corrupon and vice. There all human vices have their andezvous and hold their revel. Sin finds in ities a moral atmosphere congenial to its owth, a place where, like pestilence, it spreads y contact-a place where profligacy is propa-some for pleasure, some for political promotion, and others for personal display; some for the improvement of their fortunes, and others for the benefit of their health; some to practice their profession, others to acquire one; some come to his family and others. Jacobs was arrested on study, others to instruct; some for pious and a charge of having fired the house himself, but benevolent purposes, others to perpetrate crimes; some come to beg, and others to steal. In this way, amidst the occupations of honest pursuits, the giddy whirl of fashionable society, the debauching influence of vicious associations, and not expected to recover. the habitual familiarity with wickedness and vice, in all their various grades and phases, goodness is soon forgotten, duty is disregarded, and public virtue decays. The notorious profligacy of cities has been popularized by the say-"God made the country, and man made the town."

PROLIFIC .- Mr. E. W. Rupert has left at our office a branch of a tree containing thirty full grown peaches, twenty-five of which are in a cluster, occupying but twelve inches in length of the branch. Nature is making her best efforts in every department this season. These peaches were grown in Mr. R.'s garden, corner of Fifth and Broadway.

A Matamoras correspondent of the N. Y. Herald relates the following:

A most cruel act was perpetrated in Mata-moras the other day, on the person of a respect-able female, for the alleged crime of having carried a letter to one of Woll's officers from carried a letter to one of Woll's officers from one of the revolutionary party. She was unaware of its contents; and the helpless woman, after being confined in the common jail, was taken out into the public square and her hair shorn off by one of the ruffians in the chaingang. She was then mounted on a mule and sent to the mouth of the river, thence to go to Vera Cruz. The unhappy creature had suffered more than a woman's feelings could bear, and on the very day she left died some 15 miles from on the very day she left died some 15 miles from the city. This horrible deed was committed by order of General Castro, who had been left in command at Matamoras.

To the Editors of the Louisville Bulletin:

Mr. VERNON, Ang. 3, 1855.

I see in the last issue of your paper a great misrepresentation of the facts in regard to C. M. Clay and John G. Fee, which I am certain has not been intentional on your part, and hepe you will examine the face as and correct the error.

Some time during last winter John G. Fee (whe is an Abollton Society at a salary of $300 per anoum.) went to a piace in Lincoln county called Dripping Springs, and preached there some two or three times, and avowed so openly his Abolition doctrines that the people became exasperated about it, and finding also that he was distributing in the neighborhood some of his ontrageous Abolltion pamphilets (some of which were found in the hands of the negroes), they determined to stop him, and accordingly some of the citizens of Lincoln county met him at Dripping Springs and respectfully asked him to desist, which he refused to do, when the citizens took held of him, put him on his horse, and sent him away.

At the spring term of the Garrard Cironit Court, Mr. Clay and Mr. Fee applied to the court fer redress (as they say) of grievances, but the court being fully advised of the facts, considered there was no redress due them. Thus the matter ended natil the 28th day of June, when Mr. Clay made a speech in this county at the Brush Creek Necting-house, and at Seafficeain on the 30th, when at both places he declared that John G. Fee should go to the Dripping Springs, where he was taken down it should be over his dead body." He also said that freedom "et the soil" was she plan of their party. The day was set tog te Dripping Springs. A cempany organized and provender bought for the campaign. But the citizens of Lincoln county which should be fore which they declined going to the Dripping Springs. A cempany organized and provender bought for the campaign. COL. KINNEY ALL RIGHT-SQUATTED AND BUILDING.—We transfer to our columns this morning, the latest official bulletin from the Kinney expedition. It had safely arrived at Greytown, with an aggregate force, including the commander-in-chief, of twenty men, and the Oolonel, like a bona fide squatter, had set to work in building himself a house. Thus, at all events, Greytown, with the accession of Col. agnificent proportions with corresponding Kinney and company, is pretty secure against ower, and is destined to become the great cen-It will also be perceived that Col. Fabens and Capt. Swift left yesterday in the steamer Dan-Webster for the same destination; and we are further informed that the brig Ocean Bird, Braithwaite's Retrospect for July. Braithwaite's Retrospect for July.

To medical mea the great advantage offered by the Retrospect is its embodying in a confined space all the cream of Medical periodicals, sparing them the labor of wading through many relames filled with much taivial find uninteresting matter, which must be perused in order to reach what is really valuable, and supplying them with a key by the aid of which they may find precisely what they require in any of the soattered publications of the day. To families and private individuals it is searcely less valuable than to the professional reader, since, although parely and in the highest degree selentific, its contents are yer presented in a style se simple and unaffected that they are comprehensible to any ordinary intellect. To ladice who wish to buy;
But others say there is no telling
How to suit both the mind and the eye.

Seme have dirty stores, and their cases Would soil any nice lady's glove, And I am net surprised that grimaces Are used by those ladies who love,

To see the nice cases and covers
To books, which are first of their kind,
With the neat little pene and pen-helders
And note paper doubly refined. At A. Hagan's you should call for the On Third street, near the Post-office, For Adam's polite, and will please Every lady of beanty or grace.

AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

In one ducdeclmo velume, neatly bound in cleth., Price $1.

THE anther of this interesting American novel is among I the most intellectual of fiving writers. It tequired the gonins of the author to bave grasped, with such extraordinary force, the seems and circumstances through which her story moves. No other writer could have thrown as strong an individual life into place and locality. Her passionate fearless nature, her wild warm heart, are transfused into the magic world ebe has created, with such an intense earnestness, which an one can enter without yielding to the irresistible fascination of her pewers. The book is a thrilling transcript of undoubted experience. The characters introduced into hor work are fisch and blood realities. These graphic life revelations have created a profeund literary sensation not ognaled by any other production since the appearance of the "Scarlet latter" and "Jane Eyre." and are "mere talked about than any other novel of our times.

LATEST NEWS.

Several skiffs filled with armed men went over to Corn Island about noon, it being understood that some of the rioters were on the island. We do not know what success they met with.

An Irishman was knocked down and beaten on Water street, below Fifth, about noon.

Officer Ed. Williams arrested Joseph Grimm, German, this morning, who is charged with shooting Adkins's hack-driver on Monday. Grimm denies it.

We are under obligations to Adams & Co.'s Express, and to the Cincinnati, Hamilton, & Dayton Railroad for New York Papers of Tuesday, and Pittsburg and Sandusky papers of Yesterday.

The Coroner, Dr. W. Lee White, informs us that the report that the remains of human bodies had been found among the ruins of Quinn's houses is without any foundation. Up to last night, all the burnt bones found in the ruins would not fill the hollow of a man's hand, and it is as likely they were the bones of a dog or some other animal as those of a human being.

Several interesting cases are given in the city court proceedings, among them two connected with the riots on Monday. The Judge remarked that he should give all matters connected with the riots and brought before him the most thorough investigation. A fellow who calls himself Watson, but has several aliases, and has been an inmate of the penitentiary, was committed for further trial on a charge of felony.

DIRECT FROM LIVERPOOL TO CHICAGO.-The bark Arabia, Capt. Polley, arrived at Chicago direct from Liverpool on the 2d inst., and was to leave on her return voyage on the 6th. After crossing the Atlantic, the Arabia passed into the St. Lawrence, and, surmounting its rapids by means of the British Canadian locks and canals entered Lake Ontario, after sailing through which she overcame some three hundred feet descent, in all, of the Niagara river, by the locks of the Welland canal, and entered Lake Eries thence through said lake, the straits and lake of St. Clair, Lake Huron, and Lake Michigan, to Chicago, in the heart of the American continent. At Chicago, she is somewhat up in the world, being at an elevation above the level of the sea which overtops the highest pyramid of Egypt. Such are the achievements of science, labor, and civilization.

RE-ARREST OF G. W. WALSTON .- This man, who had been sentenced to the penitentiary and escaped from the jail in Montgomery county, was arrested yesterday near Westport, Ky., by officers Ben Rust and Wash Ragan of this city. A reward of $350 was offered for his apprehension.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Aug. 9. Elizabeth Meeks, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. She was on Third street last night in company with negroes. She is a young girl, and was before the court a few days ago on a similar charge. Sent to the work-bouse for two Charles Montgomery, who has but one hand was drunk, and the marshal took him to jail.

Montgomery is an intelligent-looking man. Bail in $200 for two months.

Preston Means, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Had a bowie-knife with him and had repeatedly drawn it. Bail in $200 for three months.

Christ. Cruse, vagrancy. He has no visible means of support and had been stealing vegetables. Bail in $200 for two months. Work-

James Johnson, stealing a whip belonging to Mr. Vail. Mr. Vail's buggy was standing on the corner of Main and Sixth streets, and he was on the other corner in conversation with Capt. Smith. Johnson took the whip out of the socket of the buggy and sat down on the corner playing with it. After a few minutes he put the whip back. He waited a few minutes, looking around, took it a second time, put it back again, and finally a third time, when he walked off with it. Mr. Vail and Capt. Smith watched him, and when he walked off followed and ar-sand when he waked in followed and arrested him with the whip in his hand. Bail in $300 for four months. Work-house.

John Watson, alias Thompson, alias Bailey, alias Brown, felony. John had helped himself to a full suit of clothes valued at $65, belonging to Mr. Henry Bailey at the Gathwright House, night before last. The marshal of Jeffersonville arrested him a mile and a half above that place. He had M1. Bailey's pantaloons on when arrested, and the remainder of the clothes in two carpet-bags. They contained, besides clothing, five large store-keys, five room keys, five trunk keys, five rings, one with the initials "M. S. G.," and various other articles. Watson came to the Gathwright House on Wednesday of last week, and remained there till last Tuesday. He never slept in the house at night. He registered his name as G. J. Watson, Pittsburg. Watson had been in the penitentiary

Some years ago for a robbery at the Louisville Hotel. Bail in $1,500 to appear. Committed.

Peter Flannery, disorderly conduct. A boy named Slasher testified that he was standing on the corner of Main and Tenth streets on Monday evening. Accused was there. A crowd of men were in the street, who commenced firing pistols, and accused then threw stones at them. Peter's wife then came and took him home. That was about the commencement of the fight.

Bail in $300 for six months.

John Banks, fighting. No witnesses appearing against him, he was discharged.

The examination of the persons in jail was postponed to procure testimony. Several of them have been discharged.

Michael Calliban and George Convey was Michael Callihan and George Conrey were charged with being engaged in the riot up town on Monday night on Washington street. Two witnesses stated that the accused were with them witnesses stated that the accused were with them in their house, on Main street, above Preston, for several hours, and, seeing a fight on Jackson street, had locked themselves up in their room up stairs, some crawling under the bed, where there was a gun. Pat. Tansey broke into this room to seek shelter. Officers Arthur and Weatherford forced their way into the house and found. Tansey, who was standing in the room with a loaded cane drawn. Arthur artisted him. Weatherford pulled out one of the accused from under the bed, who had hold of the gun, and Morrisey, a witness, and who resided there, jumped out of a back window with a sword in his hand when the officers came in. Tansey had entered the room against the consent of the parties, who were badly scared. Prisoners remanded to procure further testimony.

Why Letters are not Received by Mail .- Recent that the removal of postage stamps from letters and then dropping the letters unpaid into the office is practiced there to agreat extent, chiefly reexchanged for fruits and other refreshments reexchanged for fruits and other refreshments, and then resold below their legal valuation to such as are willing to buy. One individual has thus bought from the proprietor of a single fruit stand some sixty or seventy of these stamps. Letters thus deposited, bearing no evidence of prepayment of postage, are of course of mailed; and the public, as well as those immediately interested, blame the Post-office. Department beterested, blame the Post-office Departmen cause they fail to reach those to whom they are addressed. It is not supposed that New York is the only place where these petty but highly in-jurious frauds are practiced.

SUICIDE OF A YOUNG LADY BY POISON AT ROCHESTER—Another Affair of Disappointed Love.—A singular suicide took place at the Eagle Hotel, in this city, yesterday. The circumstances are as follows: On Wednesday evening a young lady came by cars from Auburn, and took lodgings at the hotel. She remained in her room during the night, and nothing unusual was discovered in her appearance and deportment. Yesterday morning she ate some toast, but did not go to the breakfast table. Some time toward noon she called the bell boy of the house, and asked him to do some errands for her. He was ready to go, but she hesitated, he says, in giving her commands. Finally, how-ever, she summoned enough determination to tell him to purchase her a fan, some other articles-nd three cents' worth of rat poison.

The boy bought the articles named, including the poison which he obtained at the drug-store.
The girl doubtless took a pertion of the poison immediately after it was taken to her, and at noon was seized with vomiting, and called for medical aid. Dr. Moore called, and suspected, after inquiring her symptoms, that she had taken poison, but she denied the fact so resolutely that the suspicion was partially lulled. Her sufferings became more intense a short time after, and, despite of medical aid, she expired in great agony at a late hour last evening.

Before her death she stated that her name was Caroline Bayley, and that her father, Abner Bayley, resides at Anburn. Up to the last moment of her life she would not give any further account of herself than name and residence. She would not admit that she had taken poison, or that she meditated self-destruction. Towards her last hour she begged for medicine to relieve

The appearance of the young lady was rather fair. She was rather above medium size, and her hands indicated that she had toiled somewhat. Among her effects, a letter was found written by a female cousin named Decker, and alludes to a misunderstanding that existed between the deceased and a young man named Craig. They had been under engagement for marriage, but had become alienated, and this cousin writes that she had endeavored to reconcile Craig. A post-mortem examination of the body proved beyond all question that the deceased was pure. The stomach has not yet been analyzed.

The physicians express the belief that the deceased was not more than 20 years of age.

Rochester Union, Aug. 3.

[Correspondence of the New York Herald.]

HAVANA, Aug 2, 1855. Mr. Blessey, the victim of the recent New Orleans embezzlement affair, reached here, accompanied by Mr. Walter Wakefield, on Saturday last, on board the Black Warrior. It was known that the young man, Charles Blanchard, who had embezzled the large amount of $11,000 from Mr. Blessey, with his wife, were on board the schr. G. H. Montaguo, which had not then arrived from New Orleans. Mr. Blessey, in consequence, went on board the U. S. sloop-of-war Cyane. Upon Commander Wilson's being made aware of the facts of the matter, he instantly gave orders for arrangements to be made to proceed to sea next morning at daylight, when the Cyane went out of this harbor, having Mr. Wakefield, who knew Blanchard, and who had been deputized by the United States marshal at New Orleans, on board. In the course of the day the Cyane caused the G. H. Montague to heave to. Why Blanchard was not arrested I am not aware, the Cyane not having returned to this port, but I suppose it was because he gave up more than $4,000 in gold and bills of exchange on this city. on this city.

NOW READY. Hughes& Breckinridge's Oral Discussion

Hughes& Breckinridge's Oral Discussion
THE ORAL DISCUSSION between the Most Rev. Archibishop Hughes and the Rev. John Breckinridge, D. D., on the question "Is the Roman Catholic Religion, in any or in all its Principles or Doctrines, opposed to Civil or Religious Liberty?" and of the question "Is the Presbyterian Religion, in any or in all its Principles or Doctrines, opposed to Civil or Religious Liberty?" has just been received.

The frequent calls which we have had for this work (which has been out of print for several years) have induced us to make such arrangements with the owner of the copyright as will enable us to furnish it to the trade and others at very reasonable rates.

This is a very useful book for politicians, as it discusses in a masterly manner all the points of the Catholic doctrine and discipline, which are just now creating so much excitement.

The work is printed on fine paper, and bound in any and sold at the moderate price of $1.50.
Order respectfully solicited.

THE OLD FARM HOUSE.

THE name of the anthoress of the abova work speaks volumes in its favor, and in this she has produced the arowning effect of bor pen. For freshnass and vigor of thought and style and for originality—in the charming views of country life at the 'Old Farm Hause'—in the striking illinstrations of the folling of a fashionable city life—if har dweription of good and avil natures—in all the various subjects which she has touched with her magle pen, she cannot be arcelled. The gentle beroins, Amy, is a modal of patience and virtue, persecuted by the evil gouing of hir life, the villed fixtuanton.

The book will be read with avidity, and none who commouse it will desire to lay it asids till desibed. We offer with full confidence that its perusal will be attended with pleasure and profit to all readers. Price 31 25.
